Technique

From design to finished product, every step embodies our professionalism and pursuit of perfection. Our designers combine fashion elements with customer needs to create cosmetic contact lenses that are both beautiful and practical.

Using advanced sandwich technology, the pigment layer is perfectly sandwiched between two layers of transparent materials to avoid direct contact of the pigment with the eyes and ensure safe wearing.

The most advanced technology provides our customers with the most comfortable wearing experience. This is the most fundamental guarantee of safety and comfort for our long-term cooperation with customers.

Customization

Shanghai Tongxuan provides our customers with comprehensive customized design services for all products. Our customization services cover design, production, and transportation. Design content includes contact lenses colors and styles, brand logos, packaging, gift boxes, brochures, display racks and so on.

Shanghai Tongxuan assists our clients in completing all stages of product development, providing the most comprehensive guarantee for your brand and business.

We work closely with a number of clients to provide customized color contact lens services that meet their unique brand needs and customer expectations, providing unique personalized services to their customers.

Industry

NEOCUTEY's professional strength and production capabilities in the field of colored contact lens manufacturing.

We have the ability to independently develop molds and printing inks, as well as the strength of original product pattern design.

Annual productivity reaches 280 million pieces, covering a full range of colored contact lens products. It is currently the only manufacturer in China with the production qualification of seven colors and pearlescent.
